A vacation that turned tragic for a family of four, the Westbrairs. Little did they know, it would be their last vacation together as a family. A family decided to go on a camping trip to get away from the city life in Brooklyn, New York, to the Great Smoky Mountains in North Carolina—a campsite by Lake Blue Diamond. They were in need of a little R&R (rest and relaxation) terrorized by two red wolves, which are endangered species; but how did they come to be in the Great Smoky Mountains? A baby black bear, which lay dead near the campsite of the Westbrairs, was attacked by two wolves. A four-hundred-pound mother black bear was looking for her lost cub. She has picked up the scent of her cub near the campsite. Black bears are not usually aggressive unless provoked, and although attacks on humans are very rare, a tense situation is about to unfold.
